MLA | SLA '23 - hybrid conference - virtual and in Detroit

Still time to submit abstracts for posters and lightning talks (deadline 26 January 2023)
- see below.

For the fourth year in a row, MLA is holding its annual conference virtually but this year, as last year, they are planning to hold it as a hybrid event, with the in-person event planned for Detroit on 16-19 May 2023. This is only the third time that MLA has been held in Detroit, the other times being in 1916 and 1990, so it is certainly fair that it is their turn again now!

What is totally new this year is that the MLA conference is being held jointly with the conference of the US Special Libraries Association (SLA), hence the new name for this year of MLA | SLA '23. MLA is of the view that this will offer opportunities to engage with colleagues from other sectors and discuss common issues such as leadership and management from different perspectives.

I do appreciate that for many of you, through personal choice, as a result of employer restrictions, funding constraints or for other reasons, it will not be possible to plan to travel to attend MLA | SLA '23 in person but do, please, consider attending the conference virtually this year. You may again this year have conference funds in your budgets that you have been unable to spend on attending conferences in person, so, do, please, consider using those funds to register for the MLA | SLA conference as a virtual attendee. The registration fee for virtual attendance for EAHIL members (under an arrangement between EAHIL and MLA) is the same as for MLA members, i.e. 465 USD.

The hybrid conference held in 2022 attracted over 1,200 attendees, with over 100 papers, c. 50 lightning talks, c. 140 posters, c. 20 immersion sessions and the feedback was generally very positive.

Further details about specific aspects of the 2023 conference are below.

Keynote papers - two keynote presentations have been announced for the conference.

Terri Givens will give the 2023 John P. McGovern Lecture. Terri Givens is currently a professor of Political Science at McGill University, Montreal, Canada and is the founder of the Center for Higher Education Leadership and Brighter Professional Development. “She is the author of the book Radical Empathy: Finding a Path to Bridging Racial Divides. Beyond Radical Empathy, she is the author of books and articles on immigration policy, anti-discrimination politics, and comparative race politics. As an accomplished speaker, author, consultant, and mentor, she is using her platform to develop leaders’ understanding of the importance of diversity and encourage personal growth through empathy.”

The 2023 Janet Doe Lecture will be given by Michelle Kraft. Michelle is the Director of Cleveland Clinic Libraries, Cleveland, Ohio. “Michelle developed an interest in the use of technology, user experience, and social media within medical libraries which led to her launching her blog, The Krafty Librarian, which explores items of interest to medical librarians. As an early adopter of social media, she helped pioneer the use of bloggers and Twitter at the Annual Meeting as a method to connect and inform members and attendees of meeting events and activities.”

Contributed papers and lightning talks - with respect to the contributed programme, there will be papers and lightning talks. The contributed papers are c. 10 to 15-minute presentations whereas the lightning talks are five-minute presentations and focus on one main topic. The call for contributed papers has now closed.

Posters and lightning talks - Round 2 submissions (for posters and lightning talks only) opens 15 December 2022 and closes 26 January 2023. Acceptance notices for posters and lightning talks will be sent 28 February 2023. Note that Lightning Talk sessions will be held during live virtual sessions ONLY and not at the in-person meeting. Poster sessions will be held in-person only.

Immersion sessions - this year there will again be Immersion sessions, described as follows. “Immersion sessions are meant to provide an in-depth perspective on areas of interest to MLA members. They are your chance to design and offer the programming that you want to see. Immersion sessions should strive for excellent engagement and can vary in format from a panel of invited speakers to a single invited speaker, a facilitated book discussion, as well as less-conventional sessions like an “unconference” or flipped session, or to create a work product to benefit the profession. The only type of programming excluded from immersion sessions are paper presentations.” These were an innovation in the 2019 MLA programme. These sessions run for c. 75 minutes and the majority of them will be held in-person only.

Exhibitor presentations - are being planned, both in-person and virtually.

Continuing education courses - which used to be held during the two days prior to the conference, will not be held again this year. MLA, however, continues its programme of continuing education, available as both live and recorded events throughout the year.

Exhibition - will also be in-person and virtual this year and c. 20 vendors have already confirmed exhibition space in Detroit. All vendors with booths at the in-person event will also have virtual booths. Others will exhibit only virtually.

Preliminary programme - will be made available shortly on the conference website.

Networking events - will be offered both in-person and virtually, and more information will follow on the conference website.

Conference registration - will open in January 2023. As I mentioned above, there is a discount for EAHIL members through EAHIL's association with MLA. The virtual only conference registration fee for EAHIL members is 465 USD. In person registration for EAHIL members is 775 USD at the early-bird rate (until 14 April 2023) and 890 USD thereafter.
